NEW INCLINE TRAMWAY

SCENIC RAILWAY IN GRIFFITH PARK TO BE COMPLETED ABOUT AUGUST 1.

Glenade is interested to some extent in the opening of Griffith Park, which is within reasonable reach of this city and is likely to bring many visitors to this section. Among the attractions that may be counted on to draw the crowds is the scenic incline tramway, designed and patented by Col. Lewis Ginger, a prominent resident of the city of Glendale. The city council of Los Angeles, about the end of April, passed the colonel's application for a franchise for this railway. The franchise is for fifteen years, with a clause permitting its purchase by the city after having been in operation five years.

The new incline railway will have every safety device that will render it impossible for accident to happen. It has been tested to sustain five or six times the load that it will at any time be called on to carry.

It is expected that the railway will be ready for operation about August 1. It consists of an incline 3000 feet long. Under the terms of the concession, a charge of a single 10c fare or a round-trip fare of 15c may be made.

The railway will run from the foot of the mountain on the northeast side of Griffith park to the picnic grounds on the summit. A large and commodious pavilion will be built on the top and there will be the usual restaurant and other attractions.

Colonel Ginger, who had a long experience in Mexico and was an intimate friend of President Diaz, has installed his new style of mountain railroad with great success at several Mexican mines, where it has been found of much practical use.

Henry E. Brett, the engineer of the Los Angeles & Pacific Electric railroad, is the engineer of the Incline Railway company, which is also endorsed by some of the most prominent railroad men of Southern California. Construction will start on next Monday and special machinery has already been purchased. This absolutely assures speedy completion of the new road.

LOCK YOUR DOOR

Last Thursday evening a lady living in the neighborhood of Fifth and Central avenue, in response to the doorbell, opened the door to find herself confronted by a big burly uncouth man who asked to see the head of the house. The lady turned to summon her father and had no sooner done so than the man followed her in and made the fact known that he was an ex-convict, was on his way to a certain destination, needed a certain amount of cash to accomplish his object, and must have it. Those whom the man confronted, not being physically competent to cope with the ruffian, even though they had desired so to do, and as presumably the man was prepared for such emergency, there was nothing to do but hand over the required amount of coin of the realm to enable the gentleman to carry out his pre-conceived plan, which our neighbor did with as much grace as the circumstances would permit, after which the man took his departure. As under such circumstances the actor has a confederate on the outside prepared for any possible contingency, discretion is the better part of valor, as in all probability it would have further complicated matters to have made a false move, such as refusing such a modest request, attempting to close his eyes with one's fist, opening a window and shouting police, or even asking to be excused while one went to the phone.

Moral—Have your screen door fastened or a chain on the inside of the front door and make sure that your gentlemen visitors are recognized before you unlock your doors.

OPTIONAL

HUMANE SOCIETY WORK

That large section of the general public interested in the excellent work of the American Humane Education society will be glad to hear that the duty of educating the vast crowds attending the San Francisco and San Diego fairs is being prosecuted vigorously. At San Diego the society has an exhibit of literature and freely distributes it to the visitors. The exhibit is in charge of Mrs. H. C. Reynolds and Mrs. Rachel Hogue. A Humane Educational league has been organized in San Diego with Mrs. Hogue as secretary and general superintendent. The league has subscribed for two hundred copies of Our Dumb Animals to be sent to each school in the city. Juvenile humane societies have been organized in most of the city schools.

LOCAL QUIT CLUB

UNDEFEATED POMONA TEAM IS ROUTED BY GLENDALE QUIT PITCHERS

The Glendale Quot club defeated the Pomona club on the local grounds Saturday. The visitors were very much surprised at their defeat and the local club was surprised, too, to defeat the classiest team in the state. Pomona has met and defeated every quit club in Southern California and Saturday was their first time to be compelled to pull down their colors. There were spurts of brilliant pitching on both sides and many "hookers" failed to count.

Mr. Buchanan of the local team secured the greatest number of hookers in one series, 25, while the greatest number of hookers secured by Pomona was 22. Blatchley and Weightman scored a shut-out victory over their competitors, but two of our best pitchers, Head and Glen Porter, had an off day and were decisively beaten at their stakes. The final score:

Glendale	Pomona
1144	Points 822
360	Hookers 264
39	Games 21

WINNERS IN POSTER CONTEST

There were many beautiful posters entered in the Poster contest at the Booster tea held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 106 Orange street, Saturday afternoon. Some portrayed only fruits or flowers, but prizes were awarded only to those portraying the entire idea of the festival, both fruits and flowers. Only one poster was submitted from the Intermediate school and that was too small to be considered, so both prizes were awarded to the High school. The judges were Mrs. J. F. Hearshaw, Mrs. Charles Homer Temple and Mrs. Luther Brown. The prize winning posters were equally good. Miss Margaret Harrison submitted a beautiful poster portraying the horn of plenty, while Miss Florence Wheeler's conception of the baby show, baby heads surrounded by Shasta daisies, the official flower of the fiesta, was very good.

A beautiful diorama from the Art department of the High school, and marked "not to be entered in the contest" was received. The artist was too modest to give his name, but the poster was greatly admired and will find a place in Los Angeles as a valuable and artistic announcement of Glendale's great festival of fruit and flowers.

LOCAL TEAM WINNERS

The local ball team succeeded in placing one game on the right side of the ledger Sunday when they defeated the Pferman pool hall team in what we would term a swatfest. The locals succeeded in increasing their batting average quite materially at the expense of three heavers which the visitors were compelled to use. Fred Farmer did the mound work for the locals and aside from being a little wild at times, pitched in his old time form.

Farmer has been away for some time and this was his first game with the locals in the past three months and we will have to give him credit for coming to the rescue of the local team, as they had been going down in defeat quite often of late.

Manager Hughes is very much disappointed with the light attendance and lack of interest being taken by the home fans. He is giving the public a good entertainment of the national pastime and deserves better patronage.

K. K. CLUB DOINGS

The ladies of this association have arranged for a meeting next week at the home of Mrs. Van Sant, Colorado boulevard. There will be the usual intellectual program and fancy work. The club met last week at the home of Mrs. Buchanan, when there was quite a large attendance, including: Mrs. A. L. Burson, Mrs. C. C. Puree, Mrs. A. Wightman, Mrs. E. McKee, Mrs. Phillips, Miss Danicis, Mrs. G. Daniels, Mrs. Goodridge, Mrs. Van Sant, Mrs. Salo Desky. The rose decorations were greatly admired.

CLARENCE ELEY MARRIED

Dr. and Mrs. George Eley of Loma avenue were guests at a large wedding Saturday evening, when their grandson, Clarence Eley, son of Fire Chief Archie M. Eley of Los Angeles, was united in marriage to Miss Beatrice Osgood of Los Angeles.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Windsor, rector of St. Luke's church, assisted by Dr. Eley. The church was filled with the friends of the young couple and the home of the bride's parents was the scene of a brilliant reception following the ceremony.

GETS NINETY DAYS

MEXICAN ATTEMPTS BURGLARY AND SLASHES WATCHMAN WITH A RAZOR

While Joe Hernandez, the watchman for Mesmer & Rice, was walking his beat Sunday, he thought he observed suspicious movements in the neighborhood of the tool store house belonging to that firm on Opechee way. Running up to the store-house Hernandez discovered a Mexican, John Mereno, breaking in, evidently with the intention of committing burglary.

Hernandez immediately seized the burglar, who put up a stiff fight. Seeing that Hernandez was about to master him, Mereno managed to draw a razor from his pocket and with it slashed Hernandez on the shoulder and also severely cut him in the hand, nearly severing a finger.

Breaking away from Hernandez, Mereno dashed along the road and took refuge in the brush, leaving the razor in the hands of the valiant watchman.

Hernandez then got down to the police station and reported the crime to Chief Herald. The chief banded Hernandez' hand and immediately set out after the criminal, finally locating him in an old shack in the brush about half a mile from the city line.

The chief arrested the Mexican and lodged him in jail. This morning Mereno was arraigned before Judge Whomes and after evidence showing the facts, the judge changed the charge from Burglary in the second degree and assault with a deadly weapon to simple assault and sentenced the prisoner to ninety days in jail. This was done to allow the prisoner to be taken as speedily as possible into proper hands as he appears to be suffering from some form of leprosy.

ENJOYING GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. E. Blackford, who spent about thirty years representing various fire insurance companies in the state of Iowa, who concluded that the strenuous weather of their home state could be much improved upon by locating among and enjoying the rejuvenating, balmy zephyrs laden with the fragrance of the orange blossoms in our beautiful valley, located with us last fall, selected an entrancing site for a home at the southeast corner of Eighth and Verdugo road, engaged Mr. Worth Calkins, a well-known contractor of many years' standing in our community, and not being acquainted with the building conditions here nor the peculiarities of California construction, commanded Mr. Calkins to erect them a home, which he certainly did. The Blackfords being assured by the "native sons" that the "rains were over for this season," began moving in about ten days ago. They had no sooner gotten the first load on the wagon than Jupiter Pluvius opened the flood gates and for nearly a week they moved on the installment plan between showers. However, as the Blackfords are philosophers, and as Mr. Blackford had planted a large garden some weeks prior to moving in, they are now "set to rights" and hugely enjoying "home." J. F. T.

INTERURBAN ORATORICAL

Next Friday night, May 14, at 8 o'clock, Glendale will enjoy an oratorical treat of some of the best high school talent in the state. We have the good fortune this year to be the meeting place of the Interurban Oratorical League. Pasadena, Santa Ana, Long Beach, Huntington Beach, as well as Glendale high, will take part. Gold, silver and bronze medals, as well as a banner, will be awarded. Also the two highest speakers will contend later in Los Angeles for the championship of Southern California.

The speakers and topics are as follows:

Mr. Carlos Alvear, Pasadena, Philippine Independence.

Mr. J. P. Bennett, Glendale, Peace and Our National Policy.

Miss Ellen Dodson, Huntington Beach, It Is the Rock That Makes the Pilot.

Mr. Sterling Parr, Long Beach, An Industrial Army.

Mr. J. P. Sebastian, Santa Ana, A Plea for Individuality.

The contest will be at the high school auditorium and admission only ten cents. Come out for the program will surely be a good one. It is the first time the Interurban has met in Glendale.

CITY TRUSTEES' MEETING

The trustees of the city of Glendale will hold their regular weekly meeting in the city hall this evening. Many citizens will be present to listen to the report the city attorney will make on the fifth class city petition referred to him at the last meeting of the board.

TROPICO ITEMS

MUNICIPAL PLAYGROUNDS ARE NEARLY COMPLETE—COMMITTEE TIRELESS

It is truly most gratifying to visit the municipal playgrounds of Tropico and observe with much pride and gratification the results that have been obtained through the combined efforts of Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Dwight Griswold Mrs. E. U. Bacon and Dr. W. C. Mabry. To the northwest of the fine baseball grounds, which, by the way, are in most excellent condition, a large grand stand has been erected with a seating capacity of 400. The boys of this city who are to find much pleasure on this diamond have notified the citizens not to dub those 400 covered seats "bleachers" but "the grand stand." Let all take warning. The croquet grounds are all that could be expected. A number of small boys on their bicycles have been actively engaged in rendering these particular grounds smooth and firm by using them as a track on which to speed their wheels. Then there are the dear little sand grounds. Many loads of fine river sand have been hauled and placed in this enclosure and over all has been erected a pergola and rapid growing vines planted on the north and south sides. The tennis court is not quite complete, but if the weather man continues to send sunshine this will be in excellent condition the latter part of the week. On the north side of the grounds a dear little doll house has been erected and this nicely furnished. The flower and vegetable gardens are certainly very interesting points located just south of the tennis courts. A beautiful row of varied colored nasturtiums mark the outlines of the grounds, not a weed is to be seen growing in these well kept gardens which have been planted with not only a sense of beauty and usefulness but with that of uniformity. Teeters and swings are arranged under the wide spreading branches of a huge old pepper tree that has stood, lo! these many years as a notable landmark. The man who planted this fine old tree has long since been numbered with those who go to that bourn whence no traveler ever returns. The fruit trees that are dotted here and there about the grounds are laden with choice fruit. The grounds are ideal and every citizen is justly proud of them. Mrs. Ella Richardson has decided to allow just one patch of tall weeds to remain unmolested to show the visitors just what these grounds were like before we began to improve and beautify. Shrubs and flowers are blooming everywhere. Soon the tool house will be a bower of bloom externally while the interior will be a repository for all of the implements and tools that are used on these grounds.

Among the many excursionists who left for San Jose yesterday were Mrs. David H. Imler, president of N. P. Banks W. R. C.; Mrs. Delia Hapgood, department chaplain; Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. William W. Dutton and Mrs. George W. Sanford, delegates to the department convention of the W. R. C.; George W. Sanford, commander of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R.; Maj. J. J. Weiler. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. West left by boat for San Jose Saturday. After attending the department convention, these two patriotic organizations which convene Tuesday and continue all week, will leave for Santa Cruz where they will visit Mrs. Clara Gulvin, a former resident of Glendale and past president of N. P. Banks W. R. C. Later a visit to San Francisco and the Panama-Pacific exposition will be enjoyed.

GLENDALE CHURCHES

MOTHERS' DAY CELEBRATED BY SPECIAL SERVICES IN LOCAL CHURCHES

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Preceding the sermon Sunday morning several new members were received into the church. Rev. Edmonds preached another of his practical sermons upon the topic, "Faith essential to pleasing God." The text is found in Hebrews 11:6 speaks concisely and unequivocally, "Without faith it is impossible to please God." As declared in the charter catechism of the church, "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy him forever." All attempts to shape one's life to any other purpose must result in failure; they are becoming as "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal." Faith in other things may change but faith in Jesus Christ endures, it enables the believer to stand side by side with the one in whom he believes. The believer is made a partaker in the divine nature, sin has no power over him, because his faith rests upon the solid rock of Jesus Christ. The foundation of religion is the authority of God and the one great truth of the Scriptures is that God is! Faith is based upon knowledge but never has reason for a basis; whenever the attempt is made to base it upon that foundation the question immediately arises, whose reason is it? Your reason is not sufficient, it is God's reason alone that counts. Faith is an enduring bond of union between the believer and a personal Christ. Let no man think that he can offer anything as a substitute for faith in Jesus Christ who has declared that "He that believeth not shall be damned." Do you believe in the sermon on the mount? If so, then square your life by it; one does not dare to say he does not believe in it, for in so doing he would be confessing himself to be opposed to all that is good. Belief on Jesus Christ is a belief that enables you to call upon Him, to look to Him and to receive Him.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

Mothers' Day will continue in beautiful touching memory with everyone who was present. The impressive memories of "Mother, home and heaven" touched every heart. Hymns loved and read and voiced by "mother" were used on the occasion, touching and beautifully impressive was "Rock of Ages." A solo was rendered by the pastor's daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who performs her own accompaniment. Prof. Leisinger beautifully and impressively touched each heart as he rendered a solo entitled "Mother." The text used by Pastor Mottern, II Chronicles, 22:3, "For his mother was his counsellor."

The close attention given to the excellent sermon expressed the earnest interest of the occasion and the very large attendance indicates the new life coming into the congregation in the coming of Pastor Mottern. No words can express the excellent compliment due to Mrs. M. A. Anderson, the efficient and earnestly devoted superintendent of the Bible school, for the excellent work accomplished under her guidance and with a strong, able leader as Pastor Mottern and a devoted leader in the Bible school as Mrs. Anderson, and with an united effort of the people, the work of the church will prosper. The beautiful white carnation was used in large numbers on this occasion. Sweet bloom in its rich fragrance and pure white—memory of "mother love."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Mother," of all human names the sweetest—was the subject of three short addresses at the Christian church yesterday morning. They took the place of the regular sermon and were delivered by C. P. Bowles, L. E. Berkey and the pastor. Christ's attitude toward the women and mothers of his day was dwelt on and some beautiful illustrations of the value of Mother's influence and advice were given. The speakers, of course, realized that they had the sympathy of the entire audience, on such a theme, and were listened to with deepest interest. How grateful every woman should be to Jesus Christ for exalting woman to her present position from the lowly place she occupied before He came. No wonder that the true, thoughtful woman is a devout Christian!

In the evening sermon the pastor discussed "Shall we know each other in Heaven?" and gave it as his opinion, from Bible passages which he quoted, that, in our spiritual bodies, we shall know and enjoy the association of those with whom we have mingled in our earthly bodies.

The new arrangement of the seating in the church, and position of

ACTION VERSUS WORDS

Dean Ramsay in his entertaining volume, "Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character," tells a story of an aristocratic lady who was rather backward in paying her petty debts and lived in a state of chronic indebtedness to butchers, bakers, grocers and other small tradesmen. One of those creditors one day exasperated by the lady's profuse apologies and excuses for not paying, retorted: "Less o' your mainners and mair o' your siller, your ledgyship."

The story is apropos of the conduct of quite a few of Glendale's citizens. Many worthy people here are ready to talk enthusiastically of civic plans and needs. They will express themselves strongly in favor of reforms of all kinds, but when it comes to the vital point of supporting such plans with the necessary monetary aid they immediately join the opposition.

It is impossible to conduct a modern city without funds and funds mean taxation. At the first mention of that awful word the volatile theoretical supporter of reform is dumb and takes to the tall timbers, if he does not actually join the sharpshooters on the skirmish line.

You will find such fair weather supporters in churches, in connection with schools and all public bodies. When the subscription roll is called in any of those places they make certain that they are not there. A little public criticism of such conduct at an appropriate moment might cure some of those defaulters.

DECENCY AND ORDER

That is a profound scriptural maxim that commands: "Let all things be done decently and in order." As it is truly scriptural its effect might be expected to be seen most conspicuously in connection with churches. Too often, however, the reverse is the case.

Even in Glendale there are not lacking instances where not even the "outside of the platter" has been made clean. Some churches have an exceedingly forbidding exterior and if the interior in any way corresponds to that outside appearance one need not look far to discover one of the reasons for dwindling church attendance.

Of all buildings, a church should be without blemish or spot. The windows should be clean; the paint fresh; the yard decently covered with green grass varied by flower pots and every vestige of litter carefully removed.

A notable example of what a church should look like on the outside may be seen at the Presbyterian church on the corner of Broadway and Cedar.

Pious Christians at one time believed it a waste of time and even a sin to cleanse the body, and the old hermits lived and died in the caves of Syria and of the Thebaid as foul as the once famous Simeon Stylites. Modern Christianity inclines to raise to scriptural authority the non-scriptural dictum, "Cleanliness is next to godliness."

JAPAN SCORES AGAIN

Japan is a far-seeing country. It undertakes nothing of which it has not well considered the end. It took ten years to prepare for war with Russia. During that period it severely held its peace; but when it was thoroughly prepared, it went over to Manchuria and carried out its war program with all the precision of a veteran chess player sweeping a novice off the chessboard. Russia never won even an insignificant skirmish.

In like manner Japan entered as Britain's ally on the conquest of Kiao-Chow from the Germans. In a few moves the Germans were swept out of the province they had seized and the Japanese took their place. Now she makes demands on China which that country after vain protest has been compelled to grant.

It is not saying too much to assert that in accordance with a determination arising out of the need of new territory for an expanding population Japan will gradually assume the hegemony of China and that the celestial kingdom will become part of an Oriental zone that may yet prove a serious menace to the western nations.

International authorities have long foreseen a deadly struggle between East and West for control of the world. Japan is silently working out her ends and the submission of China at a moment when no western nation is able to go to her aid is the first step in the mighty program.

At the close of the European war the nations of Europe will be exhausted and will need many years to recuperate. Meanwhile Japan will increase in power and preparations for whatever struggle may come.

The United States, with an army barely equal to a Japanese division and a fleet that is not being kept up to date, is performing the part of the bystander.

FROM ALL QUARTERS

Mayor Curley of Boston advocates old age pensions as the only means of dealing with the hard problem of living in these modern times. He says that few commercial institutions now will employ men of more than forty-five years of age and that the man of forty-five who has tried to bring up a family and has also managed to acquire a competence by working for wages is the exception. With perfect health and perfect family health such a feat might be possible, but sickness, which is almost certain to be the lot of a family, sweeps away the small accumulation of years and leaves the unfortunate at the mercy of a world that is usually thinking of something else. It is certain that some solution of this pressing question must be arrived at before long if the country is to progress along safe and sane lines.

On view of the working of the new employer's liability act, employers of labor cannot fail to be interested in the exhibit at the San Francisco fair which portrays industrial diseases and accidents. A large and interesting collection of wax figures in cabinets shows how the human system is affected by fumes, gases and poisons and the diseases resulting from exposure to such harmful conditions. In another section charts tell the story of the diseases resulting from constant working in dusts of all kinds. Tuberculosis is the penalty paid for working at any of the so-called "dusty" trades. Other charts and photographs show the results of working among industrial poisons. Yet another section shows the value of precautionary methods and demonstrates the "safety" rules for factories of all kinds. These rules have reduced accidents more than half. It is interesting to note that the plan of giving an education in reading, writing and speaking the English language, especially in factories, where many foreigners are employed, has resulted in a reduction of fifty per cent in accidents.

Kaya Andra, a Hindoo seer and prophet, who is with the British Indian forces in the war in Europe, has prophesied "terrible reverses" in store for the kaiser during the next few months and his downfall during the first half of 1916. The august William, however, goes systematically on his way battering the Russians and sinking passenger vessels regardless of prophecies. Another famous seer, or rather seeress, Madame Thebes, the French occultist, prophesied that William would go insane or suffer some terrible loss about the month of April of this year, but the kaiser is as lively as ever. The stars have it in for Francis Joseph of Austria if the seers are to be believed. He will lose his throne and his empire shortly or at least before the present year is ended. It is hard to say what may be in store for Germany and Austria. These things, as the Hindoos themselves say, "are on the knees of the Gods."

Italy is still dallying with intervention. A few days ago it looked as though that country would enter the war on the side of the allies. Recent German victories over the Russians, however, have given pause to the war movement in Italy. Thus far Italy has refused to accept the concessions made by Austria and at any moment popular animosity toward Germany may force the government into the maelstrom of European strife.

That Germany does not intend to give up Belgium is becoming manifest every day. "Belgium," says Dr. Dernburg, "offers to German trade the only outlet to an open sea. So Belgium cannot be given up." On the other hand, the allies professed to stand for the rights of Belgium and it would be to their eternal disgrace should they permit the absorption of that valiant little nation.

The National Fire Prevention association is engaged in a work that deeply interests every citizen and property holder in the United States—the prevention of fire waste. Fire waste is the greatest waste in the nation. It impoverishes a vast number of people and directly affects the welfare of the whole nation. The association is working hard to obtain government legislation on the subject.

Elbert Hubbard, editor of "The Philistine" and well known as the "sage of East Aurora," perished in the destruction of the Lusitania. Fra Elbertus, always a joker, refused to take seriously the warnings sent to the vessel before it sailed from New York that the Germans intended to sink the liner. "To be torpedoed," said the Fra, "would be a glorious way to peter out; but it would also be a good advertisement." He got his wish, but it is difficult to see what profit he is going to get from the ad now.

RESULTS OF THE DEBATE

(Contributed)

The results of the recent and now internationally famous debate between Judge Rutherford of the New York bar and Rev. John H. Troy of the local Baptist church of this city are rapidly being appreciated.

The actual number of copies of the debate sold in newspaper form amounts to 569,234. One order of 60,000 copies for distribution over the entire civilized world, reaching even to the battlefields of Europe, conveys somewhat the vital interest of the present time in eschatological themes.

Rev. Troy is a strong advocate of the simple, old-fashioned interpretation of the word of God and he is known throughout the entire United States and Canada for his vigorous defense of the faith once delivered.

In 1910 he defended the orthodox faith against Judge Rutherford in New York City. As in Los Angeles, where thousands were turned away from Trinity auditorium on the four nights of the big debate, many failed to get within sound of the debaters on account of the multitudes. A second series of debates was arranged for the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, from which Judge Rutherford withdrew. The polemic in Los Angeles grew out of the old engagement and has resulted in a satisfactory statement to the whole world of the diverging views of these two friendly opponents.

On the last night of the series of debates many admirers of Pastor Troy covered his table with a load of roses, one bunch being handed immediately to Judge Rutherford from the hand of his theological opponent. The incident illustrates the sweet spirit in which the discussions were conducted.

Several hundred requests for Rev. Troy's books were received as a result of the debates, which is a further indication of the lively interest of the general public in the truths of the Bible.

Among the flood of letters received complimentary of the famous debate is one from the pastor of the Orchard avenue Baptist church, which is typical of the general expressions of the clergy:

Rev. J. H. Troy, Glendale, Calif.
My Dear Bro. Troy: I intended writing you a line the first of this week, but have been so busy that I neglected to do so. Wanted simply to congratulate you on the great success to which, in my opinion, you attained in the Rutherford-Troy debate. If I'm any judge, you "ate him alive." I believe that the discussion will do a great deal of good. I thank God for a man like yourself, who having made a study of "Russellism" has the courage and ability to plant yourself against such a heresy. Here is my hand of fellowship, sympathy and "God-speed."

I sincerely wish that all our Baptist people and especially the ministers could have heard the debate. But perhaps many of them will read it.

Yours faithfully,
H. C. HURLEY.

Appreciations have been received from members of the Catholic church including one from a well-known Catholic priest.

Perhaps the greatest result of the Rutherford-Troy debate is the interest reflected in the prominent pulpits of Los Angeles.

It would seem that something was certainly started during the four nights of theological conflict at Trinity when over ten thousand people sat for thirteen hours listening breathlessly to the earnest discussion of the great truths of revelation, a further proof of the fact that the biggest business on earth is the business of religion and the pity is that so many professed Christians are too small of brain and heart to realize the greatness of the work of God on earth.

May more preachers tumble to themselves and the fact that the people are tired of their vague and silly speculations and are crying out for the bread of life. It would be a happy situation if some of the stones handed to the pew in place of the bread of life were hurled back at the stupid pulpit.

A number of business men of Glendale have made it their business to express in a substantial way their appreciation of the publicity received by Glendale through the Troy-Rutherford debate. Half of the expense was met personally by Rev. Troy.

POOR GAS

Some men were riding in the smoker end of a Pullman car recently when one of them referred in a rather uncomplimentary way to the gas supply that was dished up in his home town.

"Yours may be bad enough," reflectively commented a party named Jones, "but I want to say right here that we have the worst gas of any town in the United States."

"That is saying a whole lot," returned the first speaker. "Do you really mean it?"

"You just bet a hundred that I mean it!" was the vigorous rejoinder of Jones. "Every morning when we go to cook breakfast we have to pour kerosene on the gas to start the fire in the gas stove."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

To blame Secretary Daniels for the loss of F-4 submarine is foolish and unfair. However, there is a lot of blame floating around ready to settle at the first chance.

THOUGHTFULNESS MUCH APPRECIATED

County Hospital; May 8, 1915.

Editor News: Saturday about 2 p. m. I had just returned from a short sojourn out in the sunshine and was lying on my bed taking a rest when I noticed our chaplain and a number of young ladies come in and present our head nurse with a bouquet of roses. Soon after the sweet strains of music broke out in ward B-1 and those old familiar songs never sounded so sweet to me and as I walked out you can imagine my surprise when I recognized the chorus of young ladies as those from the Presbyterian church of Glendale, my home city. Now unless you have been confined to your bed in a hospital among strangers you cannot know how I appreciated this. The roses and the sweet verses of sacred songs helped to brighten the hours that had been dreary and long.

God bless you, young ladies; come again. The doors of ward B-1 are always open to you.

Sincerely your brother in Christ,
JOHN A. MORRIS.

DANIEL WEBSTER'S PLOW

One of the most valuable exhibits commercially in the agricultural palace at the Panama-Pacific international exposition at San Francisco is an ancient plow displayed in the Massachusetts exhibit and forming a striking contrast to the highly-complex modern machinery displayed on the acreage of floor about it.

The plow owes its distinction to the circumstance that one hundred years ago Daniel Webster's youthful hands guided it along the furrows of his father's farm near Marshfield, Mass. It was drawn by a yoke of oxen and if the future peer of American orators and statesmen could turn an acre of sod a day, he had to work from daylight to dark.

PROOF THAT HE WASN'T CRAZY

Victor Murdock says that one night in Fort Scott, after a political meeting, two men who had been in the audience fell into a violent discussion about the topic of the speech of the evening. A big crowd lingered to hear the disputants out. One was named Flynn and the other Dobbins. They were evidently strangers to each other. Finally Flynn lost his head and said:

"You're wrong, I tell you; you're wrong; you're crazy."

"I am not," said Dobbins, hotly; "I know what I am talking about."

"No, you don't," shouted Flynn; "you're crazy, I tell you; you're crazy."

"I am not," cried Dobbins, "and I can prove it."

Flynn stopped short in surprise and asked: "How?"

Dobbins slowly drew a fat wad of papers from his inside pocket and said, slowly and convincingly: "Well, here are my discharge papers from the asylum."—Kansas City Star.
